Professional Systems is Pre-Qualified as a Mariano's Supplier

Chicago, IL - October 2, 2015 - Mariano's Fresh Markets, owned by Milwaukee-based Roundy's Inc., made it's Chicagoland debut in July 2010, when it opened its first store in Arlington Heights. Since then, it has rapidly expanded its footprint in the area including recently converting 11 prime Dominick's locations in the city and suburbs. Mariano's has continued to expand through new construction and converting existing facilities in the area.

As part of Mariano's commitment to economic development in the markets they serve they continue to make efforts to use local businesses as part of the process. With a model that is based on quality and innovation, they have set high standards for the suppliers they use and do business with. To this end Mariano's uses a strict pre-qualification process to vet potential suppliers.

On September 30th PSI was notified by Derrick Ahler, VP, Store Planning and Design that they were approved through the Roundy's Pre-Qualification Program to provide Network Infrastructure, Integrated Security Technology and Structured Cabling Services. According to PSI's President and CEO, Bill Burton, "this culminates a process that began over a year ago and represents the results of a great team effort by our dedicated staff and the quality of our work and reputation of our 20 year history as a company". We at PSI are looking forward to the mutual success of our two organizations working together and adding value to a new Chicagoland business partner.
